information or explanation presented (e.g., articulating implications or the significance of the topic).

Production and Distribution of Writing:

W.9-10.4: Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.

W.9-10.5: Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, trying a new approach, or consulting a style manual (such as MLA or APA Style), focusing on addressing what is most significant for a specific purpose and audience. (Editing for conventions should demonstrate command of Language standards 1–3 up to and including grades 9–10).

W.9-10.6: Use technology, including the Internet, to produce, publish, and update individual or shared writing products, taking advantage of technology's capacity to link to other information and to display information flexibly and dynamically.

Research to Build and Present Knowledge:

W.9-10.7: Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question) or solve a problem; narrow or broaden the inquiry when appropriate; synthesize multiple sources on the subject, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.

W.9-10.8: Gather relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources, using advanced searches effectively; assess the usefulness of each source in answering the research question; integrate information into the text selectively to maintain the flow of ideas, avoiding plagiarism and following a standard format for citation (MLA or APA Style Manuals).

Range of Writing:

W.9-10.10: Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Conventions:

L.9-10.2: Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.

Effective Language Use:

L.9-10.3: Apply knowledge of language to make effective choices for meaning, or style, and to comprehend more fully when reading, writing, speaking or listening.

A. Vary word choice and sentence structure to demonstrate an understanding of the influence of language.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Usage:

L.9-10.4: Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grades 9–10 reading and content, choosing flexibly from a range of strategies.

- Use context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence, paragraph, or text; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.
- Consult general and specialized reference materials (e.g., dictionaries, glossaries, thesauruses), both print and digital, to find the pronunciation of a word or determine or clarify its precise meaning, its part of speech, or its etymology.

L.9-10.6: Acquire and use accurate general academic and domain-specific words and phrases, sufficient for reading, writing, speaking, and listening at the college and career readiness level; demonstrate independence in gathering vocabulary knowledge when considering a word or phrase important to comprehension or expression.

Learning Objectives and Activities

SWBAT answer the following questions:

- What is the responsibility of a "learner" in the expanding world of technology?
- How can learners enhance their ability to communicate and affect their own learning environment?
- What are the standard conventions to follow for formal research and writing?
- Why does database research supersede web searches for formal writing?
- What are the learners' responsibilities regarding crediting information?
- What individual and collaborative tools are useful for gathering, drafting, and editing a formal document?

SWBAT demonstrate understanding of the following:

- Students will understand the value of a "Low Google" diet for research.
- Students will be able to navigate online databases in order to gather and organize credible research.
- Students will understand the difference between standard English conventions for research writing versus creative writing.
- Students will understand what constitutes plagiarism and be able to use appropriate citations using an accepted research format.
- Students will be able to access and use an online citation machine as a functional tool to create and edit citations.
- Students will be able to integrate collaborative online writing tools in Google
